Do You Have No Current or Past Mental Health Difficulties?

If so, you may be eligible to participate in a study looking at social interactions in individuals with no lifetime history of mental health problems

WHO: Individuals at least 17 years of age with no lifetime history of significant mental health difficulties

WHERE: Anxiety Research and Treatment Lab at Ryerson University (near Yonge and Dundas Streets)

WHAT: You will be asked to complete a telephone interview to determine your eligibility and two separate lab visits to complete questionnaires and an interview about anxiety and mood (first visit), and a social interaction task (second visit). Each visit will last about 60 minutes.

Eligible individuals will be offered $35 incentive for their participation

For more information, contact the Anxiety Research and Treatment Lab at 416-979-5000, ext. 2184 or interactionstudy@psych.ryerson.ca

This research study has been reviewed and approved by the Ryerson University Research Ethics Board (REB Code: 2018-177)

Social Interaction Study
416-979-5000 ext. 2184
interactionstudy@psych.ryerson.ca